Abbitt Addressed 4-H Club Short Course Group

Blacksburg, June 28.- Representative Watkins M. Abbitt (D.-Va.) told a 4-H Club audience here Tuesday that in years to come they would develop and use methods of farming that "will make our present methods seem as out-moded as Model T cars."

The Fourth District representative, speaking at the annual 4-H Club Short Course at V. P. I., said that he is convinced that the opportunities ahead for American youth provide "an open road" and are limited only to the ingenuity of the American mind.

The congressman was speaking on the subject, "Opportunities for Youth" to a large gathering of 4-H Club youth from all over Virginia, gathered here for the annual demonstrations and study.

In his address to the morning session, Representative Abbitt cautioned that "hard work and constant determination" are still prerequisites to success and warned the young people not to enter the business world with the misguided belief that life is going to be altogether easy.

"This is not a time for any slackening on the job," he warned. "We face the conscious fact that much of the world is running as fast as it can to catch up with our scientific and technological advances and we can lose what we have unless we are prepared to meet the challenge."

The future of farming, he said, is as much an open road as any other field. One farm worker today can produce enough food and fiber to feed and clothe 20 others, whereas a few years ago he could provide for only five. "These advances," he said, "have opened the way for a tendency to slow down." He added that Americans cannot afford to have a vacation from their responsibilities. "The Communists," he added, "never take vacations."

Abbitt cited statistics to show that the demand for college graduates is greater than ever before. He pointed out that the 1955 graduating classes in most colleges and universities were not troubled by the problem of finding a job, but by the problem of choosing among the offers they received.

He said there were three to five calls for every engineer, chemist, physicist and medical technician. Home economics majors had at least two calls, as did agricultural specialists, teachers and other professional people. Starting salaries range from $300 to $500 per month, he pointed out.

The congressman deplored what he called "the doctrine of something for nothing" and said he believes the biggest challenge open to youth of today is to get away from the idea which has taken hold on so many people in recent years.

"We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of heaven," he reminded. "We have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity as well as in wartime. We have grown in number, wealth and power as no other nation has ever grown. Let us not forget the gracious hand which has preserved us, multiplied, enriched and strengthened us. Let us not vainly imagine, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by our superior wisdom and virtue all our own. Let us not become intoxicated with unbroken success and feel that we have reached our goal of self sufficiency and thereby need no further advancement in knowledge and training."

Abbitt admonished the young people to absorb as much learning as they can, to maintain their faith in God and to "reach out to obtain from life your rightful share of the blessings which are ours," but reminded that they must also accept life's responsibilities. American citizenship is not a right, but a privilege, he said.

It stands alone in the world today—
New Octane Bonus
Amoco-Gas
The present epidemic of octane claims is based on laboratory ratings. They are ratings obtained by adding lead. And lead doesn't all burn up. It leaves harmful deposits that can turn your engine into an octane trap—a trap that catches and wastes octane!
Then the octane performance in your car suffers. That's the difference between laboratory octane and usable road octane.
A great, new unleaded gas with an Octane BONUS
Out of the world's largest Ultraforming unit comes the clear answer to octane . . . a white, premium gas with such natural high-octane value that no lead is needed!
All the high-octane energy in the new Ultraformed Amoco-Gas is usable octane on the road where it counts. It can all burn . . . it can all go to the wheels. There's no octane waste due to lead deposits.
So you get a bonus in every gallon of the new Amoco-Gas—an Octane Bonus that multiplies itself into extra gas mileage. Try the new, Ultraformed Amoco-Gas—it's wonderful!
The white gas with the
Octane BONUS
Bonus Mileage—because it contains no lead!

Patriotism

Lesson for July 3, 1955

IS A man subversive if he—has an international outlook?

fails to conform to popular styles of patriotism?

will not promise to support every war in which his country engages?

speaks out against his nation's sins?

In this year of grace 1955, men who fill the above qualifications are cried down as subversive. Perhaps it has always been so. But in the sight of God, some such men have been honored above their stone-throwing fellow-citizens. one such person of record had what most people would call a "bad" record. He had been accused of subversive activities. He had predicted defeat for his nation while at war, and had publicly advised surrender. He had a record of jail sentences. He just missed being executed, several times; and finally died, so tradition says, at the hands of a lynching party. Nevertheless he was one of God's great prophets. His name was Jeremiah.

Professional Patriots

Jeremiah's chief enemies were also called prophets by their contemporaries. History calls them false prophets, though to the "man in the street" of that time they seemed to be the true ones. The false prophets did not really have a word from the Lord. Their words were suggested by what the people wanted to hear. Their sermons were suggested by their own desire for prestige. They were suggested by their wish for a good income. Not long ago an American organization, professedly patriotic, was selling mottoes to put on automobiles, reading "The only good Ism is Americanism," or some such phrase. The decals with that motto were selling like hot cakes, for people did not like to seem unpatriotic by refusing to buy and carry a slogan like that. But the mayor of the city investigated and as a result the sale of the things was stopped. He discovered that an advertising agency was getting 75% of the money and the "patriotic" organization 25%. The real promoters were not patriots, they were profiteers. They would have sold any motto at all for a 75% rake-off. Not every one who hollers for his country is a patriot.

Justice for All

Nevertheless, just as glass "dismonds" don't make real diamonds impossible, so false prophets do not destroy the truth of real prophets, and false patriotism does not do away with true love of one's country. That man Jeremiah was a real patriot. That is to say, he had a real love for his people and his land. (Incidentally, he was one of the first persons to call mistreatment of the soil a sin.) The word "prosperity" has a magic sound for most minds. Jeremiah was tough enough to ask questions about the prosperity some people had in his time. He threw pitiless light on the fact that some few were getting rich at the expense of the many. He had what seemed then a strange idea, though it turned out to be true, that the very wealth which was piled up in the palaces of Jerusalem was an unhealthy sign, for to use modern language, the wealth was badly distributed. Most of his fellow-countrymen were under-paid, many of them were slaves, while the king and his court were rolling in luxury. True patriotism asks as Jeremiah did: What is happening to the people, all the people? and not simply: Am I getting ahead?

Leadership

Jeremiah preached to the people, but some of his most important messages were directed to the leaders of his nation, the king, the princes, the priests. He knew that the men at the top make the policies which affect the masses. Jeremiah's preaching failed to stave off the end which he predicted, for the men at the top did not change their ways. The success or failure of a nation depends on the stamina and character of the people, but especially of the leaders. No one can consider himself patriotic who votes for a second-rate candidate for public office if a first-rate candidate is available.
